A-Project:

Istanbul waste incineration and energy generation plant, Turkey

Exporter: Hitachi Zosen Inova

In a turnkey contract Hitachi Zosen Inova is building together with its Turkish Partner Makyol an energy-from-waste-plant (EfW plant) for the Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality (IBB). The first EfW plant for municipal solid waste in Turkey will be located close to Istanbul's new airport in the north-west of the city. From 2021, the three incinerator lines will process yearly around 15% of the city's municipal solid waste (1 million tons) and generate around 70MW of net electricity.

The Swiss exporter will provide engineering, design works, procurements services and equipment for the EfW.
